

The Light - Annie Williams

We were living like people ought to live
You took our lives away we had nothing more to give Afraid, confused and hurting
We cried out for help
But you didn't listen didn't care how we felt

But we didn't lose faith
And we didn't lose hope
We fought against it all
And we fought for nothing less
Your cruel ways had to stop
Your heart had to change
we tried all that we could
To make it a better place

We looked to the light
In spite of the darkness
We rose up together
In spite of the pain
We will not keep quiet, won't let you beat us down
We will fight for justice, we will stand our ground

So many lives that you didn't care about
And so many lives that got pushed into the ground
But all of those lives have a story to be told
And all of those lives we count them as gold

But we didn't lose faith
And we didn't lose hope
We fought against it all
And we fought for nothing less
Your cruel ways had to stop
Your heart had to change
we tried all that we could
To make it a better place

We looked to the light
In spite of the darkness
We rose up together
In spite of the pain
We will not keep quiet, won't let you beat us down
We will fight for justice, we will stand our ground

You took us, shook us, broke us apart
But that wasn't the end
It was only the start
You pushed us, shushed us, tore us in two
But we came back stronger
We made ourselves new

We looked to the light
In spite of the darkness
We rose up together
In spite of the pain
We will not keep quiet, won't let you beat us down
We will fight for justice, we will stand our ground
